Dear Athirah,

My school is organising an English Language Carnival next month and I will be participating in the story-telling competition. This competition will be a good platform to brush my speaking skills and confidence. The winner will also get a storybook, certificate and the opportunity to join the school's guided tour to the State Library. As an avid reader, I would love to win those prizes! I hope to be able to do my best. Till then. Bye.

*From,
Alice*

Section C

Question 1

One night, Adeline was walking home along a dark street. It was already late and she was alone when suddenly two thieves appeared from nowhere.

One of them immediately grabbed her handbag and gold chain. Adeline tried to fight when the other man took out a knife and threatened to hurt her. She was scared and screamed as loudly as she could. The thieves panicked and started to run off.

Adeline felt relieved and thankful although she lost her belonging. Then, she went to the nearest police station to lodge a report before going home.

Question 2

Yesterday afternoon, Sara and her friends were walking home after school. As they were passing a tall tree, they heard a cat purring. They looked around and found a cat on a branch of a tree.

It was too high for the girls to reach the helpless cat. The girls felt sorry for the poor animal. Sara went to the nearest telephone booth and called for help.

Soon, a fireman arrived. He climbed up the ladder and brought the cat down. The girls felt relieved and thanked the fireman. The man praised the girls for their kindness.
