The Great Pyramid of Giza in Egypt really is very special. It is the oldest of the seven wonders of the ancient world and the last to survive until today. Nobody really knows how the Egyptians built this large pyramid, which is also known as the Great Pyramid of Cheops (or Khufu), some 5,000 years ago. It is a mystery because the pyramid was built before wheels were invented.

The size of the Pyramid of Cheops is equal to a 40-storey building. It is big enough to fit 10 football fields. There were more than 2 million stone blocks used to build the pyramid. Each of the blocks weighs around 2 – 5 tonnes. They were cut from a limestone quarry on the other side of the Nile, which is quite a distance away. Experts suggest that 400,000 men were needed to build the pyramid. They also estimate that it took 20 years to complete.

The Great Pyramid contains three major rooms which are the King's chamber, the Queen's chamber and the grand gallery. It is built to be the burial place of the pharaoh, the queen and their belongings.

19 The Great Pyramid of Giza is special because

- A. it was built by the Egyptians

What he didn't realise was that one of the villagers, Kudin was thinking of taking the buffalo for himself. Even though he already had several buffaloes, all of them were female.

One morning, Pak Kanang found his only buffalo missing. So he went all over the village to look for it. After searching tirelessly, he finally found it tied up behind Kudin's house. He immediately called the younger man to settle the matter but instead, Kudin insisted that the buffalo belonged to him.
